Greetings –

I am a homeowner in the Carter Court senior subdivision next to the proposed River View Subdivision. I received the notification to start the process of this development and I just started reviewing some of the paperwork (which is a bit technical for me) but I just would like to clarify something: does a two-unit townhouse mean two properties that are joined by a common wall serving two households? So, 19 units means 38 homes?

I have no doubt I will be asking for other information as well, but this is what I would like to clarify to begin with. I appreciate your assistance in advance!

Best,

Jo Beck
605 Carter Court
