Background:

At the end of 2022, the City of Missoula launched the Our Missoula project, which is an extensive, multi-year process aimed at producing a new Land Use Plan and modernized regulations for development.

In Spring of 2023, the Montana State Legislature passed Senate Bil 382 (SB 382) which established the new Montana Land Use and Planning Act (MLUPA), now codified as MCA 76-25. The MLUPA brings comprehensive land use planning and implementation, including land use planning, zoning, and subdivision regulations, all under one act. It modernizes and streamlines Montana's outdated land use and planning related practices and establishes a new base line for planning in Missoula and other Montana cities.

The City initiated the final phase of the Our Missoula comprehensive code reform project, updating its zoning map and development codes, with an informational meeting at the Land Use and Planning Committee (LUP) September 10. The Zoning Framework materials, including the Zoning Map, were released for public review on October 1st and presented to LUP on October 8. On October 29, a public review draft of the entire proposed Unified Development Code (UDC) was released for public review and comment, and presented to LUP on November 12th. The project is now moving through the Planning Commission and Committee is being asked to set a public hearing date for December 15, and a tentative adoption date of December 22.
