Hello Ben.

I live just off 7th and Grant across from a new 12 unit complex and near a new 22 unit complex surrounded by single family homes and one duplex. I support infill projects and code reform. After living next to these newly occupied apartments my only issue is the lighting. These structures rise above the neighborhood and cast bright LED lights from the balcony entryways and staircases. I likened them to oil platforms towering above while a neighbor said it's like having a cruise ship parked outside the house.

I know I'm late to comment but maybe there could be some consideration given to limiting wattage or requiring non daylight bulbs.

Thanks for reading,
Bob Whitney
