I think that senior communal housing is a fantastic idea and my neighborhood is a great location for it. But this plan does not offer enough parking. People 55+ are not decrepit and many drive. This is not a nursing-care or even assisted living facility so it's likely that the active, healthy residents will have cars. They will also have caregivers, friends, and family visiting. There is simply not enough parking to support that. The plan for 36 units has got to offer more than 6 parking spots!
